VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—John H. Glenn Jr., the Marine astronaut who now seeks to become a U.S. senator, Friday night was named winner of the Freedom Foundation's highest honor "for his exemplary citizenship in boyhood and manhood."

Besides Glenn, who will get the $5,000 George Washington Award, the foundation honored 922 other individuals, schools, businesses and organizations for things they wrote, said, did or photographed during 1963. "to bring about a better understanding of the American way of life."

Labor Disagrees With Wirtz

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz ran into stiff criticism from the nation's top labor leaders Friday over the administration's refusal to push for a 35-hour work week.

Wirtz said President Johnson's war on poverty calls for so much to be done in the nation that the answer to unemployment "is not more leisure for all of us."

British Seamen Caught in Waves

NEW YORK (AP)—British seamen from the freighter Ambassador struggled against mountainous seas and hurricane winds to reach an Italian liner standing by, but not one made it.

Witnesses described the ordeal Friday. "We saw one who tried to climb, but he fell into the water," said Anthony Malmona, a jeweler from Milan, who arrived here aboard the Leonardo da Vinci.

Shapp Quits Senate Race, Backs Musmanno

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Milton Shapp said he withdrew Friday as a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate to avoid a primary fight that might hurt President Johnson's chances in Pennsylvania next fall.

Shapp, Philadelphia industrialist, told a news conference there was no pressure placed upon him to withdraw, either from the White House or from State Democratic party leaders.

Backs Musmanno
Shapp faced newsmen about nine hours after announcing he was quitting the primary and would back Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the State Supreme Court, the organization stated candidate for the nomination.

One of three remaining candidates, Musmanno said of Shapp's move, "I am very grateful for Mr. Shapp's action and tremendously appreciate his magnificent support." Other candidates still in the field for the nomination to oppose Republican incumbent Sen. Hugh Scott are Genevieve Blatt, state internal affairs secretary, and David B. Roberts, Allegheny County Court prothonotary.

Clark For Blatt
Sen. Joseph S. Clark, who Thursday came out for Miss Blatt, said of Shapp's withdrawal:

"I regret his decision, which I think is neither in his own nor the party's best interest." Clark declined to explain what he meant by Shapp's "own best interest."

Shapp told the news conference: "Unfortunately, the primary election conflict that is now developing for the senatorial nomination gives every indication of being bitter and divisive, and could damage seriously President Johnson's chances and the chances of all other Democratic candidates for victory this November."

For President, Party
Shapp said he quit because "by withdrawal I can best serve the interest of the President and the Democratic party in Pennsylvania."

He said the "White House has requested that I assume a leading role in working in President Johnson's campaign this fall, and I intend to devote much of my energy in this direction."

Shapp said he had been in touch with Walter Jenkins, special assistant to the President, and will go to the White House next week to decide what role he will play in the forthcoming campaign.

He said he believed that Musmanno will be the "strongest candidate to lead the state ticket in November." "I urge the other candidates also to withdraw and support him."

Expose Scott
He said that a primary election campaign in which the candidates would deal strictly with issues, and expose the miserable record in the Senate of Hugh Scott would serve a useful purpose in winning voter support."

In reference to Sen. Clark's endorsement of Miss Blatt, Shapp said he hoped the tone of endorsement "does not set the tone of the campaigning they will wage."

He said Clark's statements were "dangerous," and added that "interparty factionalism will do much harm to the party."

He said he had no way of knowing whether Miss Blatt would withdraw, but he personally doubts that she will. "This is a tough decision to make," he said.

Musmanno Underdog
Shapp said Scott will be "very difficult to defeat." He described Musmanno as the decided underdog, and said the justice would have to wage a vigorous campaign to win.

Announcement of Shapp's withdrawal came just before 2 a.m. in a telegram to Otis B. Morse, Democratic State Chairman. It stated:

"I am withdrawing my candidacy for U.S. Senator and will support Michael A. Musmanno." Morse responded by saying that Shapp has been a great asset to the state committee over the past two years and by "this generous action, he has proved his interest in the welfare of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania."

Midnight Meeting
Shapp's action came after a post-midnight conference which included one of his representatives, Musmanno, and Francis R. Smith, Philadelphia Democratic chairman.

Shapp said he had reason to believe that some of his supporters would join him in backing the justice, but that some would turn to Miss Blatt.

Shapp said the party leaders have agreed that he is to have a greater role in party affairs.

He said he has been in touch with his supporters throughout the state, and actually came to his decision so as not to put his supporters in an "uncomfortable squeeze" during the campaign.

The industrialist said he is now devoting himself to helping the Democratic ticket in Pennsylvania. He said that he has made a detailed study of Scott's record of the past 23 years and will put it at the disposal of the nominee.

Sen. Kerr 'Loved' Baker

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, who a year ago claimed a net worth of over $2 million and powerful friends in the Senate, was pictured Friday as a borrower of small sums totaling about $1,000 in the past couple of months.

The testimony came from one Fred B. Black Jr., who said he held a block of bank stock recommended by the late multimillionaire Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., for Baker, but that Baker never came up with his share of the money.

Kerr told him, Black said, that except for his wife and his sons he "never loved a man so much as he did Bobby Baker." Black told the Senate Rules Committee at a closed session last Monday that he borrowed $175,000 to buy 6,400 shares of stock in the Farmers & Merchants State Bank in Tulsa after Kerr told him it would be "a fine investment."

The committee, which is seeking to determine whether Baker, 35, misused his official position while serving as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, released Black's testimony Friday.

At the same time Baker's lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, told a reporter the former Senate aide is in the clear on possible contempt of Congress charges growing out of his refusal to submit his financial records to the committee.

Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7, was subpoenaed before a closed session last Wednesday and is due to reappear before the committee next Tuesday, this time at an open hearing.

Commenting on a statement by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., that Baker was in contempt of the committee without the subpoenaed records, Williams said: "It's a lot of humbug when they say we didn't bring the records with us. Baker had in his briefcase all of the subpoenaed records—whatever is in existence—when he appeared."

Utilities Oppose DRB Regulations

PHILADELPHIA — Several spokesmen for large utility and pipeline companies yesterday took issue with the proposed rules of practice and procedure to be adopted by the Delaware River Commission Feb. 27.

The companies at a public meeting in Philadelphia protest their inclusion in projects that will have to seek commission approval before construction.

A spokesman for the Public Service Electric and Gas Co., who represented the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. of Delaware, New Jersey and Central New York States, said electric companies should be exempt from the rules because they comply with rules and regulations of the National Safety Code.

A representative for the National Assn. of Oil Pipelines said the inclusion of oil transmission companies in the commission's rules is unwarranted.

Ask Exclusion
He asked such companies be excluded from regulations that require commission consent or possible rejection before a transmission line could be laid.

Robert Young, Philadelphia Water Co. official, questioned a proposed regulation requiring commission approval before a well producing more than 100,000 gallons of water in a month could be drilled.

Feb. 27 the commission will adopt rules that will affect these companies plus powerful rules that will regulate water use within the Delaware River basin.

The commission was given these powers by the states of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and the federal government. It works under provisions of the Delaware River Compact.

2nd Juror Seated In Ruby Trial

DALLAS (AP)—A 39-year-old industrial engineer was selected Friday as the second juror in the murder trial of Jack Ruby. During an off-hours session, one defense lawyer was threatened with contempt.

The defense vainly sought at one point during the fifth day of the trial to bring a lie detector into court to use on prospective jurors.

Allen W. McCoy, father of two daughters, was the 36th candidate called, and only the second accepted, during the trial of Ruby for the slaying Nov. 24 of

Atheist Sues To Tax Churches

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—A Baltimore woman who brought about the Supreme Court prayer ban decision said Friday she will file tax-the-church suits next week in Kansas, Maryland, Illinois and California.

Mrs. Madelyn Murray said the "mechanics are all ready" and the suits will be filed, on separate days because of the difference in the court sessions in the various states.

Tax Churches
Mrs. Murray appeared confident that the courts will find in her favor and said, "After these suits I intend to file a suit to tax church income."

She pointed out that most church property throughout the nation is tax free and claimed, "This is inequitable because they derive the same benefits as we do, such as paved roads, police protection and so on."

'Own Stock'
"Churches also own businesses and pay no taxes on these. They also own stock," she said. Mrs. Murray also said the organization known as "Other Americans, Incorporated" is going "full speed ahead" with plans to build an atheist center at Stockton, Kans.

Bomb Threat
During the day, Judge Joe B. Brown's son, Joe Jr., a justice of the peace, said he received a bomb threat, telephoned to his office about two miles from the downtown courthouse where the trial is being held. He quoted a male voice as saying:

"I think I should tell you that a bomb is in the courthouse." Asked if the call might have been intended for his father, young Brown replied, "I suspected this was the case."

Johnson Warns Against Panic; Scranton Says U.S. In Decline

Governor Calls Rights Major Issue

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The major domestic problem in the United States is civil rights, Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton said Friday. He also reaffirmed he was not a Republican presidential candidate.

In relationship to other free world countries the political and economic position of the United States is in "tumbling decline," Scranton stated.

Commenting on boycotts, the governor defended the right of persons to boycott, but said he did not believe they were necessarily helpful to the civil rights movement.

The governor, here to address the tenth annual Conference on International Affairs, told newsmen "I'm not interested in living in the White House" and touched on a wide range of subjects at a Friday afternoon press conference.

Favors Tax Cut
He favored the tax cut, but said, "I hope spending will also be cut because of the danger of inflation." He expressed interest in the President's poverty program, but added he was "not in favor of tremendous federal control" of any proposal in that area.

Concerning foreign issues, he told reporters that he did not have "inside information," but did believe that President de Gaulle was strongly with us "when the chips are down."

Scranton said the free world is head of the Communist countries in both the economic and military fields, but he predicted this country would have "problems for many years" in trade relations with Western Europe and Japan.

Conditionally he approved the Russian wheat deal, if it would assist America in getting "better arrangements" in other areas, and said our foreign policy should try to "widen and deepen the fissure between Russia and Red China."

He spoke about national politics and campaigns as a spectator—not a player. "My choice for the Republican nomination is anybody but myself," he stated.

Sees Goldwater Ahead
"I think Goldwater is leading now. I'd be delighted to see Sen. Thurston Morton R-Ky. be the candidate. I admire Sen. Smith. R-Maine," Gov. Scranton commented.

John Glenn "has every right to enter politics," the governor said of the astronaut who seeks a Senate seat from Ohio. He also thought national television debates were "helpful in bringing to the public greater knowledge of the candidates."

Businessmen Generally
are represented in favor of passage of the U.C. revisions, while organized labor is opposed.

The proposal seeks to raise the level of the U.C. fund's reserve by increasing the wage tax base for employers and by restricting the number of persons eligible for benefits.

Beamish was asked if the committee would register with the General Assembly as a lobbyist. A 1961 law requires anyone actively working for the passage or defeat of legislation to register as a lobbyist.

"We are not going to register because we are not in that field," said Beamish. "We are merely running an education campaign and we are not required to register."

The governor's office here says it has no connection with the campaign and Scranton told a recent news conference that he has not contributed any of his own money.

$300,000 To Be Spent On U.C. War

HARRISBURG (AP)—A group of businessmen expect to spend at least $300,000 in an advertising campaign to win support of Gov. Scranton's proposals to revise the unemployment compensation program.

"We have spent over $150,000 so far on newspaper advertisements and radio spot announcements," Hal Beamish of Philadelphia said Friday. He added:

"We're going to do as much as possible. We would like to at least double the campaign if we can."

Beamish, president of the Jennings Machine Co., is chairman of the "Jobs for Pennsylvanians Committee," which is listed as sponsor of the advertisements.

Beamish, who also is chairman of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce's Committee on Commerce and Industry, said the money is being raised by employer contributions.

"We are asking employers interested in passage of the legislation to contribute at least $1 per employee," he said.

Beamish identified the committee's officers as Atty. Robert G. Macalister of Pittsburgh, secretary, and Atty. Robert F. Myers of Harrisburg, treasurer.

Beamish and Myers declined to identify members of the group.

Beamish described it as an "ad hoc" committee. The dictionary defines ad hoc as "made, established, acting or concerned with a particular end or purpose."

Businessmen generally are represented in favor of passage of the U.C. revisions, while organized labor is opposed.

The proposal seeks to raise the level of the U.C. fund's reserve by increasing the wage tax base for employers and by restricting the number of persons eligible for benefits.

Summit Hill Driver Hurt Critically

BLAKESLEE — Melvin Katzmir, 45, of 112 East Hazard St., Summit Hill, was admitted to the General Hospital of Monroe County last night in critical condition after his car hit a guardrail on Rt. 940 east of Blakeslee Corners.

State Police of the Fern Ridge Barracks said that Katzmir left the road as he was traveling east about one and a half miles from Blakeslee Corners at 8 p.m. and hit the guardrail.

Katzmir was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. He was listed in critical condition with severe head injuries.

Police said the car was a total loss.

President Attacks Chinese Aggression

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Johnson said Friday that there is "spreading civil war among Communists" and warned Red China it is embarked on a deeply dangerous game.

The President said this country has troubles but "larger than the troubles I have noted is the spreading civil war among Communists."

The President did not elaborate. He said: "There is no panic on our agenda."

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico, Johnson's weekend guest, said it is up to the world's wise men to "abolish cold war."

Visit Eisenhower
Afterward they flew to Palm Springs to confer, then took a helicopter trip after sunset to visit former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at his golf club vacation home at Palm Desert, 15 miles away.

Jabs At Barry
And while Johnson was at it, he stuck in a jab at Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Republican presidential hopeful, by declaring that: "We have dealt with the latest challenge and provocation from Havana, without sending the Marines to turn on a water faucet."

This drew laughter and applause, and Johnson continued: "We believe it far wiser to send an admiral to cut the pipe than to send Marines to turn on the faucet. We are making the base more secure than ever before."

The reference was to the water supply for the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

The Castro government cut off the water supply for the base in retaliation for the arrest of Cuban fishermen accused of poaching in Florida territorial waters.

Send Marines
A few hours after the water cutoff Feb. 6, Goldwater said in a New Hampshire speech that Castro should be told to turn it back on at once or "we will march out with a detachment of Marines and turn it on ourselves."

Good Morning!
A young wife, strolling along a Manhattan street with her husband, suddenly threw herself across the curb and yelled: "Quick, darling, go buy a car. I've found a parking space."

In a radio-television interview on Feb. 9, Goldwater said, "I still think he—Johnson—should have told Castro to turn the water back on" or "just send out a detachment of Marines from Guantanamo and turn it on and keep it on."

Goldwater added his belief that if this were done "it might lead to some shooting in Cuba. That's all."

Later, the U.S. government declared it would furnish its own water for the base and would not use any water from the Cuban source, even during the daily one-hour grace period offered by the Castro government. The admiral in charge of the base then cut the water line leading from Cuba into the naval base.

As for South Viet Nam, Johnson said that terror and violence directed and supplied by outside enemies threatened people who seek only to be left in peace. Again, Johnson said, the United States will continue to honor its 10-year-old commitment to "the support of their freedom." This passage drew prolonged applause.

Warns Red China
He put no time limit on this. There have been some rumblings about the possibility that the United States may retrench on help for South Viet Nam.

With Communist China obviously in mind, Johnson said, with heavy emphasis on the phrase, that "those engaged in external direction and supply would do well to be reminded to remember that this type of aggression is a deeply dangerous game."

Lopez Mateos, also wearing academic cap and gown, told the audience that "knowledge and freedom cannot be kept apart."

Goldwater Backer Attacks Scranton

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Paul Hugus, chairman of the Republican Party in Allegheny County, lashed out at the Scranton administration Friday over the firing of two state employees, accusing the administration of "strong arm politics."

He also said "important state officials" exerted great pressure on county Republicans before they met last Friday to endorse delegates for the Republican National Convention.

Hugus, an active supporter of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the Republican presidential nomination, said the rift between him and the administration could grow wider if the governor doesn't intervene in the firings.

Ambitious People
Hugus told a news conference the dismissals, for the most part, are "being done by ill advised and highly ambitious people around Scranton."

Later, in response to a question,

Scranton was in Cincinnati Friday for a speech. The governor's office in Harrisburg issued this statement in Scranton's name in response to the accusations by Hugus:

"I have asked Secretary of Highways (Henry D.) Harrel and Secretary of Commerce (John K.) Tabor for full reports on both of these incidents. Then, I intend to sit down with both Mr. Spirkko and Mr. Fohl separately to discuss these matters."

Hugus, when told of the governor's statement, said, "I think it's fine." He expressed the hope both fired men would be reinstated.

Political Purpose
Hugus said the firings capped a period of political pressure which started prior to last Friday's meeting of county Republicans for endorsing delegates to the convention.

Six of the eight delegates endorsed—one of them Hugus—are considered Goldwater supporters. The other two are said to be supporters of Scranton who wants to send an uncommitted delegation to the convention.

Hugus said: "The firing of my two friends follows a week of pressure politics the like of which hasn't been seen around here in many years."

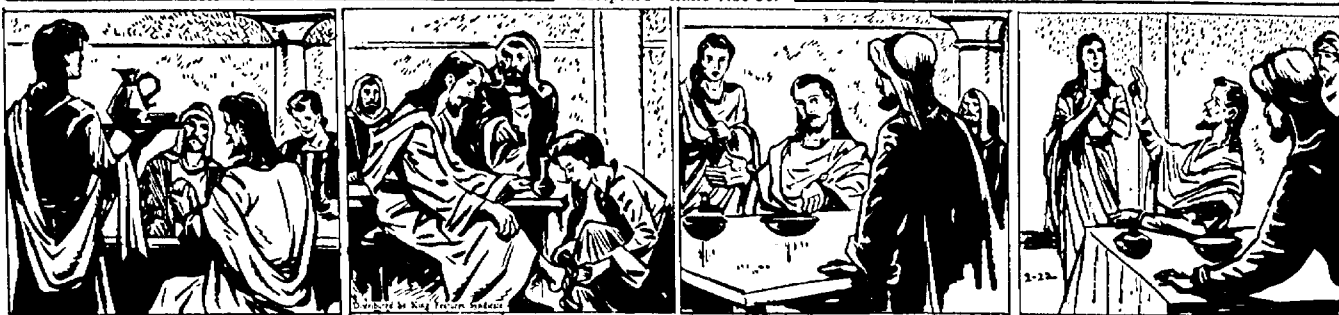

Telephone calls from important state officials were made the day of and the day preceding last Friday night's endorsement meeting in the Penn Sheraton Hotel. These calls gave strict warnings. There were hints of political reprisals, detailed instruction on how the chairmen and vice chairmen who had state jobs were to vote.

"The same detailed phone calls went to chairmen working in private industry from people who said they were calling for the governor with instructions."

Hugus declined to say who made the calls.

Safari On The Sands

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The sun was warm, the drinks cool. College students from throughout the nation crowded the beach.

Then a truck appeared, bearing a group of men. They began a show of music and talk. The punch line was Christian guidance.

The speakers were no clerical collars; the leader was an athlete as were some of his companions.

Their safari on the sands was the "Daytona Beach Mission."

Students on annual Easter vacation flung on Florida beaches have, on past occasions, kicked up their heels a little too high. It happened at Daytona and civic leaders invited the Fellowship of Christian Athletes to direct missions during the vacation periods.

Because of the mission's success, leader Ed Beck said in Louisville during a visit, the plan is to double the number of participants.

Beck, who captained Kentucky's national champion basketball team in 1957-58, now is a Methodist minister. He is director of the National Department of Evangelists for the Church, at Nashville, Tenn.

Among those taking part in the successful Daytona Beach mission were Bill Wade, quarterback for the Chicago Bears' football team; Don Shinnick, Presbyterian minister and line-backer for the Baltimore Colts; Bill Krisher, captain of the Dallas Texans; Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks basketball team, and Tony Fontane, recording artist.

"We've got about five minutes to convince them," Beck said.

"You don't have a captive audience. They'll turn and walk away if they don't like you."

Later, if a student wishes to consult one of the mission group he can go to a meeting room staffed 24 hours a day.

The objective is "to make an impact, to let the student know the church cares, to plant the incentive," Beck said.

The mission members simply let the students know what Holy Week—the time of the Daytona visit—meant to them.

No sermons were preached. Although the students may have gone there looking for "booze, women, a good time, or sun," Beck said, "I think they're interested in what life is about. And we're sharing what we believe is the ultimate meaning of life with them."

Members of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist church will renew their pledge of total abstinence from alcohol and tobacco today and will launch a community education program by distributing "Smoke Signals," a publication that answers questions about smoking and tells how to quit.

"Tobacco is a slow, insidious poison, and its effects, many times, are more difficult to cleanse from the system than those of liquor," said Thomas Miller, temperance secretary of the local church.

Miller added, "Science has thoroughly indicted tobacco as a major cause of lung cancer, heart disease, emphysema, and other maladies, with a most every public health association being on record regarding the dangers of tobacco use."

Hutchinson Holds Key Vote In County School Merger

By GIL MURRAY
Daily Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — How will members of the Monroe County School Board vote on school reorganization when they meet March 19, to endorse a plan on the controversial question?

At a meeting in the county school office Thursday night the five board members made statements indicating they favor either a single-county unit or a four-district plan for county schools.

Board members are James Bunnell, president, East Stroudsburg Area Joint; James Blakeslee, vice president, Pleasant Valley Joint; Dave Hutchinson, secretary, East Stroudsburg; John Baymorr, Treasurer, Stroud Union, and Dr. Edmund Magann, Pocono Mountain Joint.

Bunnell and Blakeslee are proponent of a single county unit. Baymorr and Dr. Magann favor a four-district plan. The important man on the board, at this time, is Hutchinson, who has not openly committed himself to either plan.

However, despite his refusal to openly endorse one plan over the other, Hutchinson read a list of 10 specific reasons that he would back his vote on, if and when he voted in favor of a single county unit.

Hutchinson said a single county unit plan would hold the following advantages:

- 1 — It would reduce the number of school directors in the county to nine members. This would eliminate school boards in 19 school districts in the county. Hutchinson said this would be a big step forward in school administration.
- 2 — It would make possible central purchasing and hiring. He said this would eliminate wasteful competition among four districts. Hutchinson said this is the competition each district engages in when hiring teaching personnel.
- 3 — It would provide better special education for the physical and mental handicapped students in the county. He said a four-unit plan would not be able to provide the same quality special education.
- 4 — It would enable practical placement of pupils in schools. He said now students do not attend schools that are close to their homes because of the "jointures" geographical complex-

Refuse Polluting Delaware

SHAWNEE — The regional supervising sanitarian for the State Health Dept. said yesterday refuse from a dump located in Shawnee along the Pennsylvania bank of the Delaware River is "positively polluting the river."

George M. Livingstone from the health department's Kingston office said he will send a "cease and desist order" to Karl Theune of Shawnee, owner of the property where the dump is located. He inspected the site Thursday.

Theune said last night he has not dumped any garbage near the river for "quite some time." He said in the past he dumped refuse along the river's bank to fill holes made by high river water.

He said he has been trying to keep the dump covered with dirt but rain and melting snow and ice make it difficult to keep the rubbish covered.

The complaint to the health department came from Mrs. Mildred A. VonHagen, Palmyra, N.J. Township clerk. Mrs. VonHagen said the owners of the Old Copper Mine Inn in Columbia have been trying unsuccessfully for three years to have the situation corrected.

She said in the summertime the dump, which is directly across the river from the inn's picnic grounds, poses an "unsightly situation."

She said the township sent other letters of complaint to the New Jersey Health Dept. and the Army Corps of Engineers in Philadelphia. According to Mrs. VonHagen the corps sent a representative to inspect the land.

Livingstone said he will inspect the dump again on May 1 because the snow cover made it impossible to determine exactly what measures will have to be taken to clear up the situation.

He was assisted in his inspection by William Shoemaker, Monroe County sanitarian.

Editor To Speak

EAST STROUDSBURG — James H. Ottaway Jr., editor of The Daily Record, will be the guest speaker Monday at the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club meeting at 6:30 in the Grace Lutheran Church.

Funeral Notices

MIKELS, Harvey W., of Bushkill, Fri. Feb. 21, 1964, age 66. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend funeral services Tuesday Feb. 25, 1964 at 2 p.m. from the Dunkelberger and Westbrook Funeral Home. Interment in the Sand Hill Cemetery. Viewing Monday after 7 p.m.

5 — It would provide a practical solution to the county's school transportation problems. He said under a four-unit plan there would be an overlapping of transportation schedules.

6 — It would produce a countywide use of special equipment and personnel. He said this could include the use of expensive audio-visual aid equipment and teaching personnel with special education that a single district could not afford.

7 — It would bring the administration of county schools closer together. He said under a four-district plan the county office would be eliminated and individual districts would report to Harrisburg. This he said could result in a breakdown in communications between the four districts.

8 — It would solve the problems of Eldred Township. Eldred has petitioned the board for a release from Monroe County in order to join the Palmerton school district.

He said to grant Eldred's release under a four-district plan would be impossible because it would reduce the state's pupil and Township requirements in the Pleasant Valley jointure.

9 — It would be in line with the state's goal of a minimum of 10,000 pupils in each school district. He said a single county unit would have a pupil population of more than 8,000 students.

10 — It would provide the basis for a vocational-technical training school. He said such a school could be developed more easily in a single-county unit. Hutchinson also said he came prepared to vote on the issue Thursday night but had no objections to putting the final decision off for a month.

Bunnell's Reasons
Bunnell gave the following reasons why his East Stroudsburg Borough School Board has reversed its stand in favor of a four-district plan and now endorses a single county unit. He said the borough had paid the East Stroudsburg Area district $55,000 more for its share of the cost than it did last year. He translated this into an eight mill tax increase for borough taxpayers. It cost $36,000 more for the borough to send its children to East Stroudsburg State College's laboratory school. This is a five mill tax increase.

The borough's share of a proposed $250,000 bond issue needed to complete extensive renovations to the area's junior high school would result in another two mill increase.

He said taking into consideration state aid for all these items, the borough would be required to raise its school tax from the present 48 mills to 58 mills.

Concerning other problems facing the borough, Bunnell said the college is buying up property in East Stroudsburg and is not required to pay tax on the land nor the buildings it erects.

Couple Seek Accident Damages

STROUDSBURG — An East Stroudsburg couple are asking damages in excess of $2,000 on two counts in a suit filed against a Scarsdale, N. Y. man, as a result of an accident in Paradise Twp. Sept. 29, 1963.

The suit, filed yesterday by Attorney Edwin Krawitz, Stroudsburg, in the office of Frank Smith, Monroe County prothonotary, is against Oliver Kingsbury of Scarsdale.

Stephen M. Roberta, and Roberta Lynn Balick, all of 187 State St., East Stroudsburg, are the plaintiffs. Roberta Lynn is a minor.

The suit alleges that Kingsbury operated his car in a negligent, careless, and reckless manner, and struck the Balick auto.

The first count alleges injuries to Stephen Balick, and damages to the car of $182, plus payment for renting a car for 20 days, totaling $200. This count asks damages in excess of $2,000.

The second count is for injuries to Roberta Lynn Balick, and asks damages in excess of $2,000.

Firemen To Attend Viewing

EAST STROUDSBURG — Members of Acme Hose Co. of East Stroudsburg will attend the viewing of Edwin Bruch Sunday at 7 p.m. Herman R. Smeltz, president of the fire company, said last night.

Firemen may pick up their uniforms at the fire house Sunday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and 6 to 7 p.m.

Smeltz added that firemen from the company will serve as pallbearers at funeral services on Monday.

Now is the time to erect an enduring Memorial an appropriate expression of love and respect to those near and dear.

Stroudsburg Granite Co.
Truman Ruchert, Owner
Main St. at Dutchess Ave. 451-8871

He said in a single county unit East Stroudsburg would share in the real estate development taking place in other sections of the county.

Going To Grow

He said the county's assessed valuation is going to grow more rapidly than will East Stroudsburg's. He cited the proposed Pocono Raceway in Pocono Township; Camelback Ski Resort in Tannersville; the proposed Mehl Co. plastics plant in Stroud Township.

Also a new Monroe Security Bank and Trust Co. building on the former site of the Indian Queen Hotel in Stroudsburg; a proposed shopping center on Third St., Stroudsburg, and additions to resorts in the mountain area as well as general development in other sections of the county.

He said the borough pays $32,000 a year for transportation and no East Stroudsburg student requires bus transportation to and from school.

Baymorr told Bunnell that he is working on the "assumption that you are going to spread your bills out over the county and that is not necessarily true because we don't know what reorganization is going to cost."

Dr. Magann, who represents Pocono Mountain, where seven out of the eight districts have endorsed a four-unit district, said, "This problem has to be considered in much more detail before action is taken."

"My primary purpose is to look at the financial picture but not with the primary purpose of voting. I want to get into this much deeper. There are many more things I want to know about before I vote."

"Useless" Figures
Magann said that figures compiled by Walter Sebring, assistant superintendent of county schools, and published by The Daily Record were "useless."

The figures showed if the county had been a single unit in 1962-63 the countywide school tax would have been 38.39 mills plus a $15 per capita tax.

"A $15 per capita tax could not be used by a school district because the county commissioners would take $5 of any such tax," Magann said.

He also argued that the 38.39 mill figure was not applicable because it did not take into consideration all the factors involved in state reimbursement.

"Can't we (Pocono Mountain) get a chance to shape up our district for three or four years," asked Magann.

He said he felt a single county unit will come in the future but the transition could be made more easily if the county's three joint systems were allowed to operate as single units for a few years.

Baymorr said at this point it would be impossible for him to sell the idea of school reorganization to people because enough of the details are not known.

He suggested that the board make one more attempt to solicit from individual school boards their positions on reorganization.

Baymorr also took sharp issue with the 38.39 tax figure. He said that figure had "absolutely no relationship with what it would cost to operate a single county unit."

43 More Realistic
"A more realistic figure on what the millage would be in a county unit would be 43 mills," he said.

Baymorr said the majority of the individual districts are in favor of a four-district plan "and I don't see how we can vote against a four-district plan at this time, and represent the people."

Of the 13 school boards who have written to the county stating positions on the problem, eight have favored a four-district plan and four want a single county unit.

The board is hoping to hear from the remaining seven districts before it meets March 12.

Blakeslee is the only member of the board who voted in favor of a single county unit when the board originally endorsed a plan for later rescinded and plan was later rescinded and the board is now faced with the task of proposing a new one.

Came To Vote

Thursday night he had little to say except, "I came here to vote on this thing."

The Pleasant Valley School Board has endorsed a single county plan and that is the position Blakeslee is taking.

Pen Argyl Councilman

PEN ARGYL — Lester Finkbeiner, 60, a Pen Argyl councilman, was dead on arrival at the Easton Hospital after suffering a heart attack while shoveling snow Thursday.

He was found lying behind his car at 5:30 p.m. by a passing motorist. Mr. Finkbeiner had apparently shoveled the front of his car free of snow and was about to begin shoveling in back of the car when he was stricken.

Rubley W. Adams, chief deputy Northampton County coroner, said death was due to a coronary occlusion.

Born in Bangor, he was a son of the late Thomas and Emma Bishop Finkbeiner. He lived in Pen Argyl 43 years.

Mr. Finkbeiner had been employed as a mill foreman at the Eisenhardt Mills, Inc. in Forks Twp. for the last 14 years.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church in Pen Argyl.

Sheltered Workshop Aides Named

STROUDSBURG — Officers for the newly-formed Board of Directors of the proposed Monroe County Sheltered Workshop were elected Thursday at a meeting in the Monroe County YMCA.

The officers are Dr. James A. Reed, president; Walter R. Strunk and Dr. John Abbruzzese, Jr., vice presidents; Mrs. John W. Sibley, secretary, and Dr. Thomas J. Breitwieser, treasurer.

Other members of the board of directors are Robert Berish, Edward Hoffman, Walter Leonard, Rev. Robert Galligan, Rev. Wesley Crowther, Raymond Roberts, Stuart Pipher, Robert Owens, William Howard, Mrs. Mary Gearhart, Walter Mikos, Richard C. Davis, Alfred Strand, John C. Haddon, Samuel Newman, Mrs. Camille Harvey, and Harry Rider.

Gerald Weinstein of the State Bureau of Community Health Services spoke on phases of the workshop operation. He said its purpose is to provide training and employment service to not only the mentally and socially handicapped but to the physically handicapped as well.

The Pocono Mountains Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the fund drive.

Walter Mikos reported for the committee for site investigation and announced a building to house the workshop would be decided upon within two weeks.

A staff committee, headed by William Howard, announced that they are looking for a director, assistant director, and a bookkeeper. Dr. Reed then appointed a budget committee and set a tentative opening date for the workshop of April 1.

Non-Graded Method Studied By Stroud Union Officials

STROUDSBURG — When the new Stroud Union Junior high school is completed September, 1963 it will be the time for the school administration to begin making some "cautious" curriculum changes, according to Alfred Munson, high school principal.

Munson told the Stroud Union School Board that he and Earl F. Groner, district superintendent, have been visiting schools with "continuous learning programs that allow students to move through phases of learning."

"Education is in a state of ferment and in our school we are trying experiments cautiously," he said.

Munson gave his report on secondary education at a school board meeting Wednesday.

He said he and Groner traveled to Newton Center, Mass. to observe the continuous learning or non-graded method of teaching at Meadowbrook High School.

"The program is offered to 500 of the school's 1,000 students. These students do not know what grades are. The object is to involve the children in learning."

"This allows them to make choices and set goals for themselves. The students take part in selecting the programs they want to take," he said.

He said all of Stroud Union's teaching personnel have been exposed to some form of this new teaching philosophy and "they are all fascinated by it. They will be asked to consider 'innovations or experiment in this direction' at a staff meeting in April."

Munson also said he has been investigating a new way of grouping students that was devised by J. Frank Browne, a

Civil Rights Deal

Republican Senator Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and many Republicans are suspicious that President Lyndon B. Johnson may be willing to make major compromises with Southern Democrats in order to get the civil rights bill through the Senate.

The reason for their suspicions is explained in the Congressional Quarterly article printed to day on this page.

The strong civil rights bill was passed by the House Feb. 10 with overwhelming support from Republicans. More Democrats than Republicans voted against the bill.

The roll call was 290 to 130, with 152 Democrats for the bill and 96 against, and 138 Republicans for the bill and only 31 against it. That amounts to 59 per cent support from the 256 House Democrats and a surprising 78 per cent support from the 177 House Republicans.

Of course 92 of the 96 Democrats voting against the bill were from the South and never vote with their party on this issue.

Senator Scott charged that the weak attack upon the bill by House Democrats could be explained as a deal made by the Democratic Congressional leadership with President Johnson for a weaker bill to be passed by the Senate.

Republicans who stuck their political necks out by voting for a strong civil rights bill have served warning on Johnson and Congressional Democrats that if the Senate waters down the bill they will not give Democrats the votes needed to pass a weak compromise bill.

Northern Democrats and Republicans voted for strong sections on public accommodations, equal employment opportunity, and cut-off of federal aid to programs in which discrimination is practiced.

They would be politically embarrassed and betrayed if Senate Democrats give ground to the Southern filibuster. But they would not lose as much as the Democratic administration will lose if no civil rights bill is finally passed.

The fact that Rep. Hale Boggs, House Democratic Whip and a close associate of President Johnson, unexpectedly supported an amendment to water down the "sweeping authority" of the section on federal aid cut-offs has made Republicans nervous about President Johnson's intentions in the coming Senate filibuster fight.

Boggs said he was speaking for himself alone, and it is not hard to understand why a Congressman from Louisiana might speak against the civil rights bill. In fact, Boggs voted against it with the rest of his Southern colleagues.

Boggs' political position as a Southerner and close friend of President Johnson is remarkably close to that of President Johnson in the South. The President is counting upon strong Southern support next November when he runs for office.

His Southern friends may not mind President Johnson's meetings with civil rights leaders and statements of support and sympathy, but they may react more vigorously if President Johnson pushes a strong civil rights bill through Congress which directly affects their way of life.

Republicans have put the spotlight on a difficult political situation President Johnson faces with the civil rights bill.

The President must make it clear that he will not give away the strong civil rights bill to the Southern filibuster if he is to retain the votes of the majority of Americans who now support him and the civil rights bill.

House GOP May Veto Watered-Down Rights Bill

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON (CQ) — If the civil rights bill passed by the House is significantly weakened by the Senate, the House Republicans may kill it.

Pro-civil rights forces hold a trump card that may prevent any "gutting" of the civil rights bill on the Senate floor in order to end a Southern filibuster.

Republican House sources are making it clear that if the Senate deletes controversial titles from the House-passed bipartisan bill, the result would be a total impasse between the two chambers in conference — and no bill at all.

McCulloch's Role

The key to the situation lies with Ohio's Rep. William M. McCulloch, ranking minority member on the House Judiciary Committee, who persuaded most of his Republican House colleagues to go along with the most sweeping civil rights bill of the 20th Century.

McCulloch has repeatedly assured House Republicans that he would not ask them to "walk the plank" by voting for highly controversial public accommodations, fair employment, and federal funds titles of the bill — and then see these provisions "traded away" in the Senate.

Associates of McCulloch and other key Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee now warn that if the bipartisan bill passed last Monday by the House is cut back severely in the Senate, there will be serious trouble in the joint Senate-House conference that follows.

Conference Fight

Unless the Senate, they suggest, agrees in conference to a bill substantially as strong as the House version, McCulloch and Rep. John V. Lindsay (R-N.Y.) and other House Republicans on the conference committee will offer bitter opposition.

If pushed far enough, the House Republicans might refuse to back the conference report. If they did, the bipartisan coalition which pushed the bill through the House would collapse and with it the House majority in favor of the bill.

For the Republicans, such a course would apparently entail a minimum of political risk since they could place the blame on the Democrats for failure to go all-out for a strong bill. The issue could, however, be blunted if the Senate Republicans contribute prominently to any watering-down attempts.

For President Johnson, a total stalemate on the issue could involve the most serious political risk because it would sharply undercut his potential election strength in the large urban centers of the Northern United States.

For this reason, few believe the Administration would permit a total stalemate to develop on the bill. This means it must hold the line in the Senate against a filibuster.

Historical Background

A glance into history explains why McCulloch feels so strongly about possible Senate watering down of the civil rights bill.

In 1957, the House had passed a civil rights bill including so-called "Title III" authority for the Attorney General to initiate court suits to secure rights denied to persons because of their race, color, religion or national origin.

That controversial section, backed by McCulloch in the House, was eliminated in the Senate — under the leadership of Majority Leader Johnson — as part of the price for the ending of the Southern filibuster.

Head "Bloodied"

McCulloch had apparently struggled hard to get his fellow House Republicans to back the original Title III. When the Senate deleted it, he felt the ground cut out from under him. "My head is still bloodied by that battle in 1957," McCulloch told the Rules Committee last month.

In response to suggestions that the public accommodations or fair employment titles of the 1964 bill might be eliminated in the Senate, so that the House would be compelled to accept a truncated bill in conference, McCulloch said:

"I want to make it unmistakably clear that I am no party and would never be a party to that kind of proposal. . . I have too many good personal friends . . . in the House of Representatives to ask a single one of them to walk a plank that might be damaging or dangerous for them only to see deals made. . . I shall not be a party to that, I assure you."

After spending most of a year in an intensive effort to get his often suspicious Republican colleagues to go along with the sweeping bill approved by the House, McCulloch would not be willing — in the view of those who know him well — to permit passage of a bill that had been "gutted" in the Senate.

Boggs' Role

The fears of McCulloch and other House Republicans that the Johnson Administration might back down on its support of a strong civil rights bill were aroused afresh in the House debate.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), Chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, rose to offer an amendment to cut back Title VI, the section requiring an end to discrimination in all federally financed programs.

Harris suggested going back to an earlier, discretionary title suggested but then discarded as too weak by the Kennedy Administration.

Unexpectedly, House Democratic Whip Hale Boggs (D-La.) rose to support the Harris amendment, saying it would be "a far cry from the granting of sweeping authority to cut off federal funds contained in the existing title VI."

Boggs' intervention, the first time he had taken part in debate on the bill, immediately aroused Republican suspicions.

Most of the Republican managers of the bill were off the floor in a strategy session. None had been informed that Harris would offer his amendment or that Boggs, a member of the Democratic House Leadership would support it. They had been informed of all other major amendments backed by the Democratic Leadership.

Republican Counterattack

By chance, Lindsay happened to be on the House floor. Noting that no Democrats rose to oppose the substance of the Harris amendment, he rose to suggest that the amendment was "the biggest mousetrap that has been offered since the debate on this bill began."

His temper rising, Lindsay said the amendment would "gut" an important title of the bill. "I am appalled that this is being supported in the well of the House by the Majority Whip. . . Does this mean there is a 'give-in' on this important title?"

In the meantime McCulloch had been alerted and rushed to the floor to ask Celler, in an impromptu conference on the floor, why the amendment was being offered and how the Democratic Leadership stood on it. Celler's answer was unclear.

McCulloch Mad

McCulloch, white with indignation, then grabbed a microphone to announce that if the amendment passed, "I regret to say that my individual support of the legislation will come to an end."

Celler immediately rose to announce that he was "unalterably opposed to the amendment." It was rejected, 80-126 on a teller vote.

Afterwards, Boggs firmly denied that he had been speaking for anyone but himself in backing the Harris amendment.

Suspicious Republicans, however, pointed to the extremely close personal ties between Boggs and President Johnson. They suggested after the vote that Boggs would not have taken the stand he did without at least informing the White House — and that if he did, the Administration apparently took no action to alert the civil rights forces to a major weakening amendment.

Airport Essential to Growth Of Pocono Mountains Region

Editor, The Daily Record:

I congratulate The Daily Record and Mr. Cox for the impartial report covering the Pocono Mountains Airport.

It is obvious, in summation, that the airport is an important link in the chain of prerequisites for a sound, growing, progressive community. This thinking is further supported by an article in the February issue of Pilot magazine about the Governor of Georgia, Carl Sanders, and his position relative to airport development.

"The importance of an adequate airport to a growing community cannot be overstated."

Industrial representatives of the Department of Industry and Trade told me that one of the first five questions a manufacturer seeking a new plant site asks is: "Where is the nearest airport?"

"The demands of modern society, and the requirements of modern industry, are making rapid air transportation more and more essential to the successful business enterprise."

"Spare parts and technicians many times are required at plants hundreds of miles away from the points at which they are available. The ability of companies to make immediate deliveries of desperately needed items can mean the difference between sales and loss of business."

"To get executives where they must go, to place parts and technicians where they are needed, and to make emergency deliveries, more and more companies are operating their own aerial fleets. And these are not small, 'Cub-type' planes, but expensive, well-equipped aircraft which cannot use 'cow-pasture' landing strips."

"Therefore, it is easy to see the relationship between a community having an adequate airport and its ability to attract new industry. 'It is clear that our plans for promoting industrial growth in Georgia must include an accelerated program of airport development throughout the state.'"

It was particularly disturbing to read that young Pipher, our new commissioner, called for a new chairman of the airport authority, implying that the slow pace of development was the chairman's fault, when the basic responsibility rests upon all of us, the citizens of this community, who openly recognize the value of a first class public airport, but through our typical human indifference have failed to respond by not urging our political representatives to provide positive assistance to the authority.

Our airport, like any business venture, must reach a certain level of development before it can generate significant income. The authority has called upon us repeatedly for financial aid to achieve the necessary level of development, but our response has largely been "too little, too late."

It is time for all of us to change our attitude to constructive action and get the job done. Irresponsible criticism accomplishes nothing.

We should commend the chairman and the members of the authority for their years of service without compensation, their endurance of great frustration, and their foresight in establishing this vital public airport to serve the growing Pocono area.

Spanking School Children Increases Sense of Weakness

Editor, The Daily Record:

It was a relief to learn that blows aimed at the head or face of a pupil are now out of bounds to teachers and school administrators in Pleasant Valley. However, the policy permitting corporal punishment through spanking in the office of the assistant superintendent is objectionable and should be strongly criticized.

Spanking takes unfair advantage of a child and it will invariably be perceived as unfairness as it is only employed by adults whose muscles are larger than the child's.

It fails to enhance educational adjustment or to foster personality growth; instead, it destroys the child's self-image as it heightens his existing sense of inadequacy and weakness.

The degradation of children by spanking or humiliation by school boards, school administrators, or teachers is incompatible with the educational philosophy of a free society and is the antithesis of mental health principles.

It is hoped that this incident at Pleasant Valley will serve to stimulate greater interest in the promulgation of mental health activity in the community, especially in the schools at this time.

Ford Foundation Replies To Allen-Scott Criticism

Editor, The Daily Record:

The recent Robert S. Allen-Paul J. Scott column containing the allegation that foundations are appreciably contributing to the drain of U.S. gold reserves abroad contains enough fallacies as to distort the truth. The facts are as follows:

1. Only 3.6 per cent of the Ford Foundation's investment portfolio are in foreign securities. This is a small fraction (actually .0017, or less than one-fifth of 1 per cent) of all private investment abroad. Moreover, more than half of this total was purchased after issue dates from other American investors and therefore had no direct effect on the balance of payments.

2. Besides, the income from these investments, of course, returns to the United States, actually improving American gold reserves. Principal, too, ultimately returns to the U.S.

3. The one-fifth of its total grants the Foundation makes abroad for educational purposes and for the social and economic progress of less-developed areas is, likewise, an infinitesimal fraction of the balance of payments. Furthermore a large part of these funds remains in the U.S., since it is devoted to purchase of American books and equipment and to compensation and benefits for American consultants and faculty members.

Moreover, such grants abroad not only are in accord with government policy but are in a long line of tradition in which a variety of American agencies — including churches, voluntary agencies, and foundations — have conducted philanthropic and humanitarian activities abroad.

4. Finally, the Foundation has not been told by the Treasury, which is the guardian of the country's gold reserves, that its activities are in conflict with Government policy.

The unwarranted allegations in the column are a slur against foundations, which operate under regulations of the Internal Revenue Service and within the laws of the United States and the states in which they are chartered — all in the public interest — and we accordingly believe it important to bring these facts to the attention of your readers.

Dear Abby

Up In Smoke

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man in his 50's who slips around to smoke? He started smoking when he was 15, and about four years ago he started having stomach trouble, so his doctor told him to quit smoking. He did, for about three years, then he started to slip around and sneak smokes. Can you imagine a man in his 50's thinking he is getting away with it? His breath and clothes smell of tobacco something fierce, and you should hear the excuses he uses to get out of the house for a smoke. Also, I find cigarettes hidden all over the house. It makes me think that if a man will slip around to smoke, maybe that's not all he's slipping around to do. Am I wrong?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Probably. Don't assume that because your husband has one bad habit he has them all. So far, you know only what you've learned from smoke signals.

DEAR ABBY: Should a 16-year-old girl who has been called "naive" feel complimented or insulted?

"NAIVE"

DEAR NAIVE: If she is truly naive, she should feel complimented.

DEAR ABBY: I am a born loser. I lost my husband to another woman. I lost my only child to my husband because the court decided that he could provide a more normal atmosphere for him. I feel in love with a married man who works closely with me. I have never been alone with him, nor do I intend to be. I am sure he is aware of me in the same way, though not a word has been spoken about it. My interest in him has numbed my interest in all other men. It is also interfering with my efficiency on my job, and I know it is affecting his, too. If you could tell me how to regain my former uncomplicated state of mind without changing jobs, I would be grateful.

Barrett 'Y' He ad Suggests Bigger Saturday Program

MOUNTAINHOME — An enlargement of the present schedule of activities for Saturday was suggested by Wayne Boyd, new director of the Barrett Branch YMCA at a board meeting this week.

Boyd met with eight members to discuss the transition of the directorship from Robert Wilson to his hands and aid the board in making the change as smooth as possible.

Renovations, painting and repairs to the building will be done as soon as possible with March 1 set as target date. Board members felt this was an early date, but decided to try to accomplish as much as possible prior to the beginning of the month.

During the business session, William Helbig, president, appointed E. K. Crothers as house committee chairman with Warren Miller as assistant. Robert Bodine, chairman of the finance committee will be aided by Boyd in discovering needs for the local branch and arranging finances.

John Sengle was appointed activities committee chairman with Mrs. Theodore Price as co-chairman of the Spring Mother's Day Dinner. Sengle will be in charge of the Father-Son Banquet.

Ralph Thomas and Rev. John Roberts were appointed to the membership committee. Results of the recent membership drive will be reported by Boyd at the next meeting.

The board generally discussed programs for the YMCA which included, weight - lifting; women's night; Gra-Y activities; and a program for children. Boyd said he would undertake to improve the existing Saturday program with the co-operation of the Stroudsburg YMCA and aid from the board.

A group of women is to be hired to houseclean the building with necessary repairs and renovations to follow. Board members will co-operate in arranging a work - night to handle work to complete the refurbishing project.

All members are to be contacted prior to the next meeting, by mail. The board will meet in the YMCA building March 16 at 8 p.m.

New Theatre Being Built At Cherryville

A new summer theatre-in-the-round will open in the Lehigh Valley area, June 28. The 1,200 seat theatre is now under construction on an 11 acre site in Cherryville. The theatre will be known as the Cherryville Playhouse.

Less than an hour's drive from the Stroudsburg and Pocono area, the site of the new playhouse is one of the most picturesque in the Lehigh Valley. Located 10 miles north of Allentown just off Route 145. The theatre will adjoin the famous Gourmet Inn and will offer theatregoers an evening of dining and Broadway theatre.

The policy of the Cherryville Playhouse during the 11 week season will be to present professional Equity productions originating from New York City. These attractions will star favorites of Broadway, Hollywood and TV. The shows, both musicals and light comedies will be part of a network of stage shows seen on the summer theatre circuit across the country.

Curtain time will be nicely at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 5:45 and 9 p.m. A matinee is scheduled for Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. Tickets will be reserved and at popular prices.

The Cherryville Playhouse will be represented in the Stroudsburg and Pocono area by Mrs. Nancy Perretta, 207 Washington St. East Stroudsburg. Mrs. Perretta will handle subscriptions, publicity and theatre party information for the theatre.

Thursday, February 27, 1964
March 21 to April 21 (Aries) — You are unexpectedly, you may say, in the chair to do something big, attain a new foothold. But if you are behind in your work, or have been delaying, you will lose time and the better offerings.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Consider if tactics could be improved, even if you are doing well. You will have to work extra hard, ready for more trying hours. Personal affairs may advance slowly.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer) — Put revived eagerness into efforts now. Success and ease through your alliances. Don't differ. If appropriate, could spark day's hopes. A good day.

July 22 to August 23 (Leo) — You will be very crowded tomorrow. If you make "small" gains now, may spot an otherwise good week. And if you make "big" gains now, may spot an otherwise good week. And if you make "big" gains now, may spot an otherwise good week.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Take all in brother-order, you realize that others may be under stress. You are at times, all day and night, to be in the office. September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — How Virgo, also be careful that ordinary does not get out of control, and do not overplay your hand through enthusiasm. Frequent, outlook good.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — First get TODAY'S matters under day in an orderly fashion, then later ones will fall in line. Try to enter too much territory and you will succeed.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Planetary aspects call for a quick review of what you have for this day. Then, if all is still okay, proceed happily, without misgivings. Some out-of-the-ordinary matter can be handled.

December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Give play to your complete for your complete, seems effort. There's opportunity now for greatly increased qualification, substantial gains. Relinquish outmoded methods, avoid pessimism.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — The impact of a strengthened effort can help to solidify gains. Skilled action should bring progress in keeping with high hopes.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — A slow start indicated, with increasing momentum as the day progresses, so don't let down in effort. Establish firm footing; gains are assured.

March 21 to April 21 (Aries) — You have today at home in not least surroundings; are at ease, unhappily with disorder. Once in your groove with preference, you strive consistently, not bothered with outside influences; reach attainment unusually quickly and well. The well-kept of this date are clever, can handle hard - scale jobs, enjoy scholarly undertakings. (Heraldic of Henry W. Longfellow, American poet; Elizabeth Taylor, film actress.)

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

A good subject for Twenty Questions would be "Guess where Lolla Surrey is now." It could be almost anywhere in the world from Mount Ararat to Tibet, but those who know her best could narrow it down by asking themselves first "Where is something exciting going on?"

This time she's been on the ship standing by to rescue the British sailors from the foundering freighter "Anibassador" in mid-Atlantic with those 40 foot waves we've been reading about. Mrs. Surrey, program chairman for the Women's Club, waited to sail for Europe until after the February club meeting, and so has had a front row seat on the rescue operations. A news service could do worse than assign a roving reporter just to follow her around to be there when whatever happened. Last time she just got out of Africa before the storm broke if you remember.

If ever we have any questions about birds, however, it's John or Isabel Glasson we pester, and members of the Monroe County Garden Club feel the same way because they turned out in unexpectedly large numbers to hear her talk on Thursday, and report they felt well repaid.

Some of our Southern birds of passage are beginning their migrations north and I'm just waiting to see the look on their faces when they try to drive into their garages.

I have sort of a migrating urge myself, but instead maybe I'll spend the weekend experimenting with the three bottles of hair color that arrived in the mail. If I can make up my mind between white bon bon, honey beige or pink confetti. Could be I'll turn out to be a purple-headed crossbill yet.

Garden Club Gets Preview Of First Robin's Arrival

Stroudsburg — "I, too, have a date with Spring," Mrs. John C. Glasson closed her talk on birds at the meeting of the Monroe County Garden Club on Thursday at the YMCA, and for those who are waiting with her, there was promise in her description of the great robin migration soon to come.

"Traveling by daylight more than 100 feet above the tree tops, a billion or more Robins will be plunging up the Mississippi Flyway, moving toward their ancestral breeding grounds," Mrs. Glasson promised. The first day the robins average 17 to 32 miles but by the end of the migration, those headed for Alaska are covering 100 to 200 miles a day.

The big migration up the Mississippi divides with the branching river and individual robins drop out of the flight as the homing male spots his own back yard. The older males arrive first to mark their old homestead while the younger males arrive next to take over new territory, with their springtime songs warning off invaders.

Your Elm May Be Home — "Your elm or your maple is imprinted like a dream in his bird head, and you will awaken one morning to find your own robin home," she promised.

Mrs. Glasson, illustrating her talk with bird cards and quotations from books, including "Wings at My Window" by Ada

RARE visitor to the Glasson home, a white-winged crossbill.

Clapham Govan, also drew on her own years of experience with wild birds.

"To a bird lover, no season is dull," she pointed out. "Winter brings winter birds from the north. February brings the first of the new year's migratory birds, the fox sparrow who arrives the last week of February and stays about three weeks."

Since birds who have nested in this area tend to come back not only at the same time but even to the same garden, she pointed out the pleasures of taking notes each year to compare the dates of arrival. The Arctic tern is the champion long-distance migrator, she said, traveling more than 10,000 miles from the coast of Labrador to South Africa.

The bobolink is the champion of land birds, traveling more than 6,000 miles between Canada to Brazil. The tiny hummingbird travels 500 miles, non-stop, across the Gulf of Mexico.

Mrs. Glasson also reported in detail on two birds threatened by extinction.

Vanishing Eagle — "The American Eagle, adopted for the Great Seal of the United States in 1782, now numbers less than 10,000," she said. The practice of hunting them in airplanes over Texas and New Mexico was halted by federal law in 1963. However, D.D.T. in lethal proportions was found in the tissues of all but one of the 45 dead or dying eagles sent by the Massachusetts Audubon Society to the Federal Reserve Center, she warned, in urging "Better prey for better spray."

The Whooping Crane, down to 26 in number, now number 33, she reported through the joint conservation efforts of the Canadian Wildlife Service, the National Audubon Society and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

From her experience in bird feeding stations, Mrs. Glasson urged members to keep the bird baths filled. The Glassons feed fine grain, sunflower seeds, cracked corn, oats and suet, with a whole wheat mixture for doves.

Living feeding stations are furnished by the mulberry tree, the sumac, vibernums and other shrubs, she explained.

One of the most unusual birds she described was the white-winged crossbill observed for the first time on Jan. 11, 1964.

They feed on the tiny seeds in hemlock cones, holding the cone with one foot and clipping the seeds out with their fine crossed bills. They are swift and friendly, she said, with the male a rosy red with prominent wing bars and the female grayish black with the same wing bars.

Birds in Arrangements — Decorations, arrangements and exhibits were also keyed to the bird theme. Focal point of the exhibit of maps, pictures and literature arranged by Mrs. Glasson and Mrs. Elwood Grant was an artistic arrangement featuring robins.

Mrs. Charles A. Bell described the horticultural exhibits displayed by members while Mrs. Bernard Peters described the artistic arrangements featuring birds in bird feeding stations, nesting and other poses, as well as arrangements of dried material that had retained natural colors.

The three 1963 award winners used their three prize containers in an arrangement keyed to the bird program. Mrs. Paul Y. Heller, book chairman, read a poem "The Potted Plant and the Weed" by her brother, J. Albert Edinger.

Mrs. Elwood Grant, trail chairman, reported on Bowman's Hill Wild Flower preserve. She reported that 337 plants had been transplanted from the propagation bed to permanent locations on the trails, and that six bushels of flowering dogwood seeds had been collected to be distributed at the business meeting at the Scout Jamboree in 1964.

Mrs. George M. Rung presided at the business meeting when year books were distributed. Mrs. Ernest Swartz, transportation chairman, reported on plans for a bus "Night of the World's Fair," with the date to be announced later.

The tea table centerpiece on a patriotic theme used forced cherry branches augmented by branches bearing "permanents" in a white container flanked by framed pictures of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington with two tiny 50-star flags. Mrs. J. Harold Lantierman, chairman, made the arrangements. Assisting were Mrs. Edgar W. Van Why, co-chairman; Mrs. Howard Clugston, Mrs. William Wallace, Mrs. William W. Gorman and Mrs. Charles L. Frank.

History Of Hamilton PTA Mon. — "The History of Hamilton Elementary Parent-Teachers Assn." has been written by Mrs. John Sebring and will be presented at the meeting on Monday night, Feb. 24, at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Dr. John Appel director of the liberal arts program at East Stroudsburg State College, who will speak on "Benjamin Rush and the PTA."

Educational TV in County To Be Studied in Barrett; PTA Reviews Curriculum

Canadians — The present status and future plans for educational television in Monroe County will be the topic for the Barrett Elementary Center PTA at the meeting in the school March 9. The announcement was made at the recent meeting by Mrs. Walter Melnikoff, program chairman.

In announcing the upcoming program, Mrs. Melnikoff pointed out that the topic was one which would be of interest to all parents and teachers in the county and an invitation to other PTA groups has been issued. Earl Groner, Stroud Union superintendent of schools, will be guest speaker.

The recent meeting marked Founder's Day and Mrs. Ida Palmer Stabler, who had received a life membership in the local PTA in observance of Founder's Day was sent a floral tribute by the association. Mrs. Stabler is 88 years old and the only living member of the founders of the Parents Congress movement in America which was begun in Washington, D.C.

Continuity Stressed — The program for the meeting was presented by Lawrence Wile, principal of Pocono Mountain Schools, and James Davenport, elementary supervisor of the jointure. They discussed integration and continuity of programs on the elementary and secondary grade levels.

Davenport said, "We are using departmentalized teaching in fourth, fifth and sixth grades. In fourth grade, the pupils have a homeroom teacher to which they are assigned in alphabetical order. At the beginning of the school year they go to class at 9 a.m. with teachers on the grade level according to each student's academic accomplishment."

"In fifth and sixth grades," he continued, "the students have four teachers. Each teacher is in charge of his or her specialty. In this way, teachers can continue from grade level to grade level without a break in the subject continuity."

Wile explained the guidance program offered by the jointure. "On the secondary level," he said, "there is one counselor for grades 9 through 12 and a second for seventh and eighth grades. The same counselor for junior high also spends as much as 35 per cent of his time in the elementary schools."

35% Continue Education — "We have a good average in high school," Wile pointed out, "more than 35 per cent of our graduates continue to higher education."

In relation to integration and continuity, Wile underlined the "spring orientation program." All members of the sixth grade, he said, "attend the high school for one day in the spring, to give them some preparation for what fall classes will bring."

"Teaching in the high school is based on the pupil's academic accomplishments in seventh and eighth grades," he added, "grades nine through twelve attend classes on a course basis—general, college preparatory, or commercial."

During the business session, Mrs. Paul Reisenwitz announced that membership rolls listed 103 members in the PTA. The attendance award for the meeting went to Mrs. Ora Geer's fourth grade.

Mrs. Albert Goll reported that a total of 6,828 United States Savings Stamps had been sold to date. Each Wednesday, stamps are sold to students at 10 cents each to be pasted into a booklet which when it is filled can be redeemed for a $25 United States Savings Bond.

The "Father's Basketball Game" was termed a success by Mrs. Ernest LaBar. She said the profit totaled $73.79. This will be used to purchase plastic book covers for the library books, which will aid in keeping the books in good repair.

Family Living Classes — The association will contact the jointure Educational Excellence Committee to see what is being done and what can be done toward establishing family living classes. The committee will be requested to discover what is being done in other areas and make recommendations on what can be done in the local schools.

Serving on the committee are Dr. Paul Koehler, Mrs. Richard Price, Mrs. David Montgomery and Marvin Rosen. The group agreed to purchase a card table which will be used by the membership chairman and the savings stamp chairman. A second purchase, a filing cabinet for PTA records, was authorized. The cabinet will remain in the school building.

Mrs. Vernon Murray was in charge of devotions. Walter Melnikoff reported on the association's gift to Mrs. Stabler and that her birthday was celebrated Feb. 1.

Cadets To Play For Muster Day

Stroudsburg — The Lambert Cadets, VFW Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of the Thomas P. Lambert Post, 2540, Stroudsburg, will entertain for the guests and personnel of the National Guard at a Muster Day open house at the Armory in East Stroudsburg on Sunday at 2:30.

Cadets will report to the armory not later than 2 p.m. in uniform. Boys not issued uniforms may wear a white dress shirt, black dress pants and black shoes.

How Extra Is Extra-Curricular?

Minisink Hills — "How much extra-curricular activity is good for your elementary school child?" is the question to be discussed by a panel at the Smithfield Parent-Teachers Assn. on Monday night at 8 at the school.

Dr. Hans Brehm, pediatrician, will represent the medical profession; Horace Cole, district physical education teacher, the teaching profession; and Mrs. David Cartwright will give a parent's viewpoint. Mrs. David Saussier will moderate the panel, serving as moderator.

Mrs. Carl Yetter, program co-chairman, will give a reading in observance of Founders Day.

Robert Singer, president, has asked for a good turnout at the business meeting to discuss final plans for the main PTA project for the year, the "Night of Harmony" by the Barber-shop Quartet Society.

A social time with refreshments will follow the meeting.

Lady Reindeer Monday — The Ladies Independent Order of Reindeer will meet in the Old Fellows Hall on Monday night at 8.

Guidance May Cut Drop-outs

Tobyhanna — Better guidance can also decrease the number of drop-outs members of the Coolbaugh Elementary Center Parent-Teachers Assn. were told at their third meeting of the year.

Harry Wertheiser, speaking of guidance on the elementary school level, and George Webb on guidance at the high school level, explained the new guidance program.

Standardized testing each term will be one of the tools used to determine each child's capabilities and potentials. Using this knowledge, parents and teachers can work together for the development of the child, which should also cause the percentage of drop-outs to decline, they pointed out.

The meeting was well-attended. Mrs. Lorna Meixell read the opening PTA prayer.

Founders Day was observed with a reading of the birth and progress of the PTA given by Mrs. Mark Hay. An offering was collected for PTA purposes.

Discussion centered around the need for new playground equipment and the money needed to repair old equipment.

Mrs. Ruth Gross and Mrs. Betta Palo, chairmen for the new fund-raising project, announced that they would appreciate help and suggestions. The recent bake sale was reported a success.

Attendance prize was won by Mrs. Miller's First Grade.

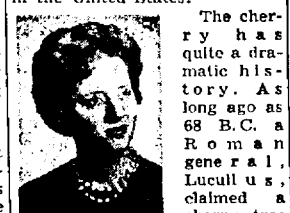

Topic at the March 17 meeting will be "Symposium on Reading" with Mrs. Norman May, Mrs. Cloyd Miller and David Guthrie as speakers. Refreshments were served.

WE CANNOT TELL a lie either, there's rhubarb in this Washington Cherry pie.

Washington Legend Sparks Trio of Cherry Recipes

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist
Stroudsburg — Did you know that Pennsylvania ranks seventh in the leading cherry growing states? It was a surprise to me to find out that we grow eleven thousand, five hundred tons a year, and just as surprising to learn that there are one thousand, one hundred fifty varieties in the United States!

The cherry has a quite a dramatic history. As long ago as 68 B.C. a Roman named Lucullus claimed a cherry tree as the greatest prize of a very costly war. The Romans even took cherries to Britain, but the British weren't about to appreciate any gift of their conquerors and it wasn't until the time of Henry VIII that the cherry became popular in England. Somehow, between times of beheading and marrying all his wives, he planted the famous cherries of Kent.

Early colonists in our country brought cherry pits with them and soon our country was well planted. But of course, George Washington did the most for the cherry when he told his father, "I can't tell a lie, Pa, you know I can't tell a lie. I did it with my little hatchet." George's father lost a cherry tree but he prized more an honest son.

So, today, on his birthday, we celebrate with cherries. If you're artistic or can trace a head of Washington on a six inch circle of pastry, you can bake a pie like the one pictured above. But, if not, just bake it with a top crust; George won't mind!

The President's Pie
Filling:
1 pound can unsweetened pie cherries
16 cherries package frozen sweetened rhubarb
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Few drops red food coloring

Drain cherries and combine with rhubarb. Mix together dry ingredients and stir into fruit. Over low heat bring to a boil and simmer 5 minutes stirring constantly. Add butter and stir to melt. Add red food coloring, if desired. Pour into unbaked pie shell.

Pastry for one 9-inch pie:
Two-thirds cup shortening
2 cups sifted flour

in can with scissors). Drain again and chill. Heat cherry juice and water to boiling, add marshmallows, reduce heat to low, cover, and let stand until marshmallows are softened. Remove cover and stir until marshmallows are completely melted. Chill over ice water, stirring constantly, until mixture starts to thicken. Add drained cherries and mix well. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into 8x8x2 inch pan in which half of vanilla wafer crumbs have been evenly sprinkled. remaining crumbs over cherry mixture. Chill 2 to 3 hours or longer. Yields 9 servings.

Here's a dessert that would be perfect when you're hostess for a meeting at your house. It's pretty and luscious to eat.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

The hue and cry of Paul Revere's day was "Here come the British."

The hue and cry of Here and Now in our Wyckoff store is, "The Beatles are with us."

This is to be expected, of course. Wyckoff's is progressive, to say the least. Whether or not the parents of my vintage call the Beatles "progress," at least they are current, and one must be adaptable. That's why I wasn't the least bit surprised to see John Neipert, Charlie Madison, Ralph Warner and a few others of our store family traipsing around Thursday afternoon wearing Beatle wigs. It seems, we're stocking them. WHERE? Well, not in the hat department as one might expect, but in the jewelry department. At the moment I can't tell you the price because they haven't been ticketed. Of course, by the time you read this they will be out on the selling floor where—if any remain—they may be viewed in all their shining glory.

Charlie Madison was trying to convince me that some of our leading young men about town are in the market for wigs. One automobile dealer planned to buy four, he told me. Perhaps he is looking ahead to next year's Halloween party at which he, the wife, and kids will "beatle-fy" the guests. Or maybe he is planning on wearing one a season for the year ahead. Who knows? On the other hand, Charlie may have been bluffing. This will bear following up, just to see!

I do know this—when Ralph Warner walked by the baby carriage in which one of the Robert Clark children was being wheeled by a bigger sister, the older child grinned, then stared after him in open mouthed, wide-eyed disbelief. "What do you think of that?" I asked her. "Do you like that wig?"

She nodded negatively and smiled. "Why do they let him wear it?" she asked. Well... they let him for a number of reasons. One: this is Wyckoff's, and anything that's good for a laugh is enjoyed here. Two: this is Wyckoff's, and anything that's a hit with the public and demanded by our customers will undoubtedly appear in stock as soon as possible. Third: this is Wyckoff's and we have adopted an old resolution, with a few minor changes. To wit: "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em."

A note from Blanche Mackey tells me our 99c special for the Tea Room this Monday evening will be: Swedish style meat balls, buttered noodles, mixed vegetable salad, coffee, roll, butter, and fruit Jello with whipped cream. A lot of food for a very little money, wouldn't you say? ... Here are two important dates to keep in mind: Friday, February 28th, and Saturday, February 29th. On each of these days, "Wyckoff's" will present a Corset and Lingerie Show for ladies' only in the Keystone Room. The shows will be identical. Friday's will be in the evening; Saturday's in the afternoon. Try to be in attendance on one of these occasions. I am told the new Spring colors in intimate approved are luscious! ... Another important date is Friday evening, March 6th, when our Teen Age "Be a Seventeen Model" contestants will participate in a show of fashions that are advertised in Seventeen magazine and displayed on the racks at Wyckoff's. If you are the mother of a teen ag girl between 5 ft. 5 and 5 ft. 8 inches in height, urge her to enter the contest today. Applications are available in any second floor Fashion Department and must be returned to us by February 29th.

Sapphire Anniversary Celebrated

Saylorsburg — A surprise anniversary dinner was held on Tuesday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Custer of Saylorsburg given by their three children.

Since they were celebrating their 45th anniversary, the table was decorated in sapphire blue carrying out the sapphire anniversary theme. There was also a sapphire blue money tree as a centerpiece presented by their daughter, Miss Beatrice Custer of Easton.

For the bride of 45 years ago, there was a corsage of sapphire blue flowers and for her husband a boutonniere. They received other gifts and cards.

The party also marked the 16th birthday of their grandson, Henry James Bacon, and the 15th wedding anniversary of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Custer, all of Wind Gap.

Present were Miss Beatrice Custer, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Custer and children, Roxanne, Suzanne and Heidi and Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Bacon and children, Aletha and Henry.

Majority Of Eldred Board Still Nod Toward Palmerton

By Jim Shafer
Daily Record Reporter
KUNKLETON — The majority of the members of Eldred Twp. School Board still feel the township should become a part of the Palmerton School District.

Under the present set up, children in grades nine through 12, all are sent on a tuition basis to Pleasant Valley High School.

Children in grades one through eight attend the Eldred Twp. Elementary School in Kunkleton.

Franklin Taylor, president of the board, said, "I favor joining the Palmerton School District. I have favored this from the outset. But I want it understood that I favor this because I feel Kunkleton is closer to Palmerton both economically and geographically than it is to Stroudsburg."

"I also want to point out that I am not against Monroe County having a one unit plan nor am I against Monroe County, any school or any school unit in the county. It is my belief that we in Eldred Twp. are closer to Palmerton," he continued.

2-16th Mile Longer
Taylor pointed out that it is only two tenths of a mile longer to Palmerton High School from the Eldred Twp. School than it is from the school to Pleasant Valley High School in Broadheadsville.

Taylor said, "The people in this area do their banking, shopping and many other things in Palmerton. I say again this is why I feel we should become a part of Palmerton School District."

He also said if a technical high school is built in Monroe County — and he doubts that it will be because the student population in Monroe County is not great enough to warrant one — it would no doubt be built in the Stroudsburg area.

"Kunkleton is more than 20 miles from Stroudsburg. Look at the distance the children would have to ride to and from school. I do not believe that this would be a benefit to the children from Eldred Twp."

Favors Monroe System
Leon Barlieb, secretary of the board, said, "I still favor staying with the Monroe County School System and the one unit plan that has been submitted to the county school board."

"I have favored this idea since I first heard it and had it explained to me. I will continue to think along this line."

Barlieb is the only member of the board to favor Eldred Twp. remaining under the jurisdiction of the Monroe County superintendent of schools and the one unit county plan.

Mrs. Beatrice Bohner, member of the board, said, "I would like to see Eldred go with Palmerton, but this has nothing to do with my opinion of the one unit county plan."

"Educationally the one unit district would equalize opportunities for all the people in the county. It will no doubt make all high school diplomas in the county equal. At present I feel they are not," she explained.

Sees Difference
She added, "I do not see how a diploma for a person enrolled in the college preparatory course of study is equal to one of a person who takes the vocational agriculture course."

In addition to the regular hours, the registrar's office in the court house in Honesdale will be open from 6 to 9 p.m., March 2 through 6, and from 1 to 4 p.m. on March 7.

March 9 is the last day electors may register or change party affiliation, to vote in the Spring primary election to be held on April 28.

Anyone reaching the age of 21 on or before April 28 may register after Feb. 28. All naturalized citizens should be sure to bring their naturalization papers.

Registration In N'fld. Feb. 28
NEWFOUNDLAND — A clerk of the Wayne County Registration Commission will be at the Newfoundland fire hall on Feb. 28 between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m. and 6 and 9 p.m., for the purpose of enrolling voters, changing of voting districts, and changing of party affiliations.

In addition to the regular hours, the registrar's office in the court house in Honesdale will be open from 6 to 9 p.m., March 2 through 6, and from 1 to 4 p.m. on March 7.

Former Sheriff Altemose State Assembly Candidate

STRODSBURG — Jacob F. Altemose, sheriff of Monroe County the past 12 years, yesterday said he is seeking the Democratic nomination for Representative in the General Assembly from Monroe County.

Jacob F. Altemose

In making the announcement he said, "I am very well qualified for this post because of past experiences in the business world and handling the many responsibilities in the sheriff's office."

Altemose has served as chairman of the Democratic party in Monroe County for three years. Before that he had been a committeeman in Stroudsburg and Southern Stroud Twp. He also served as president of the Pennsylvania Sheriffs Assn. for one term.

He was born in Melhoney, a son of Mrs. Sallie Altemose of Stroudsburg and the late Francis Altemose.

The elder Altemose served as sheriff of Monroe County from 1924 to 1928 and from 1932 to 1936.

Altemose is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School. He served in the U.S. Navy for more than three years during World War II.

He is a member of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Stroudsburg; the Odd Fellows

Dog Law Enforcement Scheduled

BUSHKILL — Walter Bensley, dog law enforcement officer in Pike, Monroe, Wayne and Carbon counties, yesterday said he will conduct a general check-up for owners of unlicensed dogs.

He said, "All persons found owning or harboring unlicensed dogs will be prosecuted without exception. The minimum fine is $5 and costs of prosecution, and the maximum fine is $100 and costs, or 30 days in jail, or both."

Bensley pointed out that it is not the wish of the Bureau of Animal Industry or him to make these prosecutions. "Dog owners," he said, "should take advantage of this warning and purchase their 1964 licenses at once."

The purpose of the check-up, he said, is to license all dogs having homes and to distinguish them from stray and homeless dogs. The strays can then be picked up and disposed of, eliminating the possibility of them causing damage to livestock and poultry and also preventing an outbreak of rabies among dogs.

"All dogs not bearing a current license tag are considered strays and may be disposed of by any officer on sight," he said.

Bensley concluded, "The purpose of a license does not permit your dog to run at large unaccompanied. It can be picked up by any officer when found running at large. So, protect your dog and respect your neighbor's property by keeping it confined to your own property or under proper control."

Historical Unit Seeks $1,625

STRODSBURG — Alfred Sumburg of the Monroe County Historical Society, asked Monroe County Commissioners Thursday for its yearly allotment of $1,625 — an increase of $625 over last year.

Sumburg noted that the society was producing many pamphlets on the society. No further action on the request was taken at that time.

The commissioners noted that their regular monthly meeting with county agencies will be held at the county home Wednesday from 1-4 p.m.

Company A Personnel Promoted

STRODSBURG — Four men were promoted Thursday night at Company A, 6th Battalion, U. S. Army Reserve, Stroudsburg, by Capt. Eugene P. Doyle of Scranton, company commander. The men were promoted from PFC E-3 to Specialist Fourth Class.

They were Paul Miller, Pokona Ave., Stroudsburg; John Miller, Lackawanna Ave., East Stroudsburg; Donald Fenn, Stroudsburg RD 3; and Jerome Rine, East Stroudsburg RD 3. Sworn in as a recruit Thursday was Stanley Seese of Canadensis. Seese will go on six months active duty within 120 days.

Sergeant Smith said that the reserve center, on Bank Alley behind the Colonial Diner, would be open the last two Thursdays of each month and Saturday mornings.

Correction

CANADENSIS — The Daily Record incorrectly said yesterday that Edwin J. Caprioli was running unopposed for Democratic committeeman from his municipality.

Aubrey Siglin is also running for the post.

'Operation Muster' Month Heads Local Guard Agenda

EAST STRODSBURG — This is "Operation Muster" month for "C" Company, Pennsylvania National Guard in East Stroudsburg. Capt. George P. Brodhead is commanding officer.

"This is a very old tradition and dates back to colonial days when it was the practice to hold an annual muster of the militia. This was usually on the village green and was to see how many able-bodied men were available to bear arms in an emergency," Brodhead added.

The local guard unit will observe this day on Sunday, Feb. 23, and will have all its members attending drill on that day. Also planned for the day is an Open House Program and all high school seniors interested in joining the local unit are urged to stop in and talk to Capt. Brodhead.

Brodhead said, "Any man who has passed his 17th birthday and enlists in the unit will not leave for six months active duty before he graduates from high school."

OCS Plan He also noted that the Na-

Recollection Day Sunday

TOBYHANNA — The men of Tobyhanna and Pocono Catholic Missions "Day of Recollection" will be held Sunday, Feb. 23 at 8 a.m. in the Pocono Catholic Mission School, Cresco. The Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society will sponsor the session.

The Rev. Victor Donovan C.P. will be the retreat master. Reservations for a continental breakfast and buffet lunch may be made by contacting William Flaherty or Joseph Calliguri.

B'nai B'rith Meets In Temple

STRODSBURG — Stroudsburg Lodge of B'nai B'rith met for the first time this week in the new Temple Israel, Stroudsburg.

Dr. Seymour Pollan told the meeting that the 6th Annual Brotherhood Essay Contest had been completed and winners will be announced in March.

In celebration of Brotherhood Week the lodge held a panel discussion on the topic, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

Ira Nagler was moderator and the following were members of the panel: Seymour Pollan, Dr. Seymour Pollan, Thomas Bresnauer and Edwin Krawitz.

Fire Out When Firemen Arrive

MT. POCONO — Firemen from Mt. Pocono and Barrett Twp. fire companies were called yesterday at 11:33 a.m. to Merry Hill Lodge in Paradise Twp. to extinguish a fire.

Ernest Bisbing, Mt. Pocono Fire Chief, said the fire was out when firemen arrived and no serious was needed. An oil burner fire ignited but there was no damage, he said.

NAACP Told To Use Aid Of State Unit

STRODSBURG — Norman Watts, director of Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission, was the principal speaker at the local chapter of NAACP meeting Thursday night at 8 p.m. in the Monroe County YMCA in Stroudsburg.

He said, "The legislature and the NAACP fought for many years to get bills through for many people who have been discriminated against, but these same people do not use the Human Relations Commission to register complaints about housing, public accommodations, employment and education."

Referring to the legislature he said, "It is very hard to buy or rent a good home if you don't have a good job. All people must have equal opportunity to compete for any job provided the individual has the qualifications for the job."

He continued, "It is important that our young people finish school so that they can become qualified, because it is only to go for jobs and not be qualified for them."

Watts urged that individuals take advantage of job analysis tests given at no cost by the Pennsylvania State Employment Service. "This way," he said, "the individual will know what he is best fitted for."

PP&L Aids Promotion Of Poconos

STROUDSBURG — The Pocono Division of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. yesterday gave $1,237.60 to the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau. The money represents one-half of the bureau's cost for fall and winter advertising in Philadelphia and New York City papers.

Ralph E. Reppert, PP&L district manager, presented the check to Eric Schuchard, president of the vacation bureau. The advertisements are designed to create tourist interest in the Pocono Mountains area.

In making the announcement, Reppert said, "The value of promotion such as this advertisement lies not alone in any tourism it might attract."

"It also helps establish the community and surrounding area as an interesting place to live and bring up a family, frequently a vital factor in influencing management's decision to locate in a particular area."

"Since tourism can play an important part in the growth of the area and of the company, we are glad to share the cost of such a promotion."

The state, through Pennsylvania's tourist promotion law, will match the vacation bureau's original funds. Thus, with the utility's donation, the bureau will have to pay one-quarter of the cost of its advertising.

The PP&L offer of matching funds is effective throughout 1964 and is available for similar promotion by all such organizations in communities served by the company which qualify under the tourist law.

S-burg Coed Vies For Best Dressed Title

SELINGSGROVE — Miss Judith Rhodes was one of seven students at Susquehanna University in Selingsgrove nominated for the title of "Best Dressed Coed on Campus."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Rhodes of 14 Club Court, Stroudsburg.

Miss Rhodes is a junior majoring in business administration, and was nominated by the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

The winner will be chosen by a poll of the student body. The results will be announced Wednesday, Feb. 26.

Glamour magazine conducts the competition annually on a nationwide basis and from the winners at the various colleges selects the "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America."

The top ten received a trip to New York City, where they will be photographed for a feature story in the August issue of Glamour.

100 Honor Bangor Cub Pack 102

BANGOR — The Blue and Gold banquet of Cub Pack 102 attracted a group of 100 in Trinity Lutheran Church parish house, Bangor, recently.

Mrs. Philip Keenan served the buffet dinner. Charles E. Williams, Cubmaster; his assistant, Robert Werner, and George Dungan, institutional representative, were in charge of arrangements. Williams was master of ceremonies. The Rev. William Dennis spoke on "Cub Scouting in Relation to the Church." The pack is sponsored by Trinity Church.

Mrs. John Fiorot, Mrs. Joyce Butz, Mrs. Angelo Perusso and Mrs. Albert Stern, den mothers, were presented flowers. John Deshler received a table floral piece.

Others participating in the program were: James Dungan, Thomas Reed, Craig Tucker, Craig Rainer, Scott Dennis, Lee Buss and Franklin Brown.

The cub master presented achievement awards to Evan Williams, James Frey, Brian Correll, Craig Rainer, Albert Stern, Robert Kneebone, Lee Butz, Harold Leamon and Michael Brown.

Lenten Service Scheduled Feb. 26

NEWFOUNDLAND — Lenten service on Wednesday this week was cancelled at the Trinity United Church of Christ, in Scranton, according to the Rev. Dr. Frederick G. Fulmer, retired Moravian minister, who is the Lenten speaker at the church.

The Feb. 26 services at Trinity will be highlighted with a meditation on "Lent Inspires Spiritual Poise."

Services at Roemerville Moravian Church were cancelled last Sunday, and Dr. Fulmer will speak this Sunday on the theme, "What Think Ye of Christ?"

57 Per Cent Of People Who Inquire Visit Poconos

STROUDSBURG — In order to determine what percentage of the public who inquire about a resort area actually visit the area for a vacation, the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Stroudsburg, an association of 260 leading resorts, honeymoon spots and lodges — sent a questionnaire to 750 people who requested vacation information during the period from May to July of last year.

Research statistics show that a typical response to this type of survey is about five per cent, however, in this instance over 28 per cent of those people who received the form responded to it.

To the question "Did you visit the Poconos for your vacation?", 57 per cent said Yes, 41.4 per cent replied No, while 1.6 per cent gave no answer. According to the survey, the most popular time period for vacations is still seven days, while 14 days was the choice given by the second largest number of people.

The highest positive response was given to the request "Did the Pocono literature you received satisfactorily answer your questions?" To which 92 per cent said Yes, 3.2 per cent said No, while 3.2 per cent gave no answer.

"How did you first hear about the Pocono Mountains?" brought the following response — in first place, Friends or word of mouth; closely following in second, newspaper and magazine articles while in third place, advertising was mentioned.

"It is worth while noting," stated John Calhoun, executive secretary of the Vacation Bureau, "that a large number of those respondents who actually did vacation in the Poconos used the space provided for 'additional comments' and wrote detailed suggestions and reactions to their visit."

Because the information obtained has been so valuable, the publicity committee plans to repeat the survey next year on an expanded basis.

Charles Brong Rites Conducted

BRODHEADSVILLE — Funeral services for the late Charles Brong, 72, of Brodheadsville were held on Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Kresge Funeral Home, Brodheadsville. Rev. Adlan Bohner officiated. Burial was in the Buena Vista Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Lloyd Attenose, Martin Serfass, Harley Bond, Wilbur Batheiler, Frank Varney, and Joseph Millman.

The all-American favorite for a geographical place name is Summit. There are some 70 Summits scattered from the East Coast to Alaska.

REGISTRATION PUSH — Mrs. Grace Sloan, second from right, state treasurer and candidate for state auditor general, helped Monroe Democrats push registration drive at meeting at YMCA Thursday night. Getting her advice are W. C. G. Peterson, county Democratic chairman; Mrs. Grace Palmer and Stuart Pipher, heads of the County Democratic Registration Committee. (Photo By MacLeod)

Brotherhood At Temple

STROUDSBURG — Brotherhood sabbath was observed today at 8 p.m. in Temple Israel, Stroudsburg.

Rabbi Bernhard Presler delivered the sermon: "How Good and Pleasant". He was assisted during the service by Dr. Seymour Pollan.

After the services B'nai B'rith lodge, under the direction of its president Gerald Brodsky, conducted Oneg Shabbos with Ira Nagler as the principal speaker. The program was the second of the "Modern Jewish Giants" series sponsored by B'nai B'rith as part of the Adult Jewish Education Program.

The average American ate about 37 pounds of poultry (chicken and turkey) in 1962.

More copies of the Boy Scout Handbook have been printed in the United States than any other book except the Holy Bible. Some 20 million copies of the handbook have been printed.

New York maintains 2,800 pieces of snow-fighting equipment on a year-round basis.

BACKGROUND FOR MARRIAGE

Next year George will be a civil engineer from Tech. And Meredith is studying Home Economics at State. If you were their parents, wouldn't you consider that a pretty good background for marriage? Boy with a promising profession! Girl with a sound grasp of the family budget!

But should we be so naive? What they study in college is foreground, not background. It equips our sons and daughters for the immediate opportunities and obligations the future presents.

The permanence of love is not rooted in engineering or economics. Designing bridges and planning menus are not keys to a lasting happy marriage.

Personal character determines the ability of a man and woman to meet the demands of sacrifice and unselfishness that marriage requires. The Church molds character as it builds faith. For character is one of the by-products of faith...

... The ability to love unselfishly is another!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
